

Quest Plan 5

The Ultimate Christmas Tree

As a cat, you have one purpose every December: Destroy as many Christmas trees as possible. But one day, in the center of town, you discover that the town has set up a 50 foot tall tree. This is clearly a test. If you can destroy this tree, you will be a legend among feline-kind.

And so, for the first level, you platform up the tree, avoiding electricity from broken wires and defeating squirrels that have made home in the tree.

Once you reach the top, you knock it down, and now for the second level, have until the tree falls to get down from the tree otherwise it might hurt, because just because cats always land on their feet doesn't mean it doesn't hurt to fall.

Why it's interesting

Since it's December, I thought a Christmas game might be fun. Also, by ascending up the tree, it's different from most platformers as you go up instead of to the right.

Controls

Left/Right Arrows -> Move

Up/Down Arrows -> Jump/Crouch

Z -> Scratch

X -> Makes a meow sound, doesn't have any actual use, but it's cute. Like how the A button has Luigi call out to Mario in Luigi's Mansion
